

Society Gossip.

Misses Carrie and Edythe Fitzgerald will leave shortly for Metawis, Canada, for the summer.

Col. Mike Muldoon, President of the Irish-American Society, who has been on a trip to Washington, is home again.

Messrs. Ben Hutti and Joseph M. Keyer, of the L. & N., will leave shortly for a trip to the lakes and through the Northwest.

Mr. John A. O'Connor, for many years past with the Commercial, has secured a position in the advertising room of the Courier-Journal.

Mr. Thomas J. Groark, formerly of Jeffersonville, Ind., has rented and furnished a cosy home on West Walnut street, near Twenty-seventh.

Mr. William Corrigan, one of the most experienced theatrical mechanics in this city, has been engaged for Macauleys for the coming season.

Mr. M. J. Winn, the popular Fourth avenue tailor, left the city Tuesday with a party of railroad friends, going to Henderson, where he spent several days.

The many friends of Mr. Sam B. McGill, the well known tobacconist, will regret to learn that he is dangerously ill at his residence on Sixth street.

We call the attention of the readers of this department to the many great bargains contained in the advertisement of the William Lynch Dry Goods Company.

Misses Lillie Hutti and Nettie and Mary Schene will leave shortly for Brandenburg and Wolfe Creek, where they will spend the summer months visiting friends.

Mr. Martin Corcoran will leave Tuesday for Atlantic City. Rumor has it that he will return with one of the fair daughters of that pleasant summer resort.

Mr. Edward Cowan, who has been quite ill, is again able to resume his duties with Julius Winter & Co. This will be pleasing intelligence to a large circle of friends.

Mrs. George D. Worth, of Cincinnati, who has been the guest of Col. and Mrs. Phil Hutti, West Walnut street, left for home Friday, after a very pleasant visit.

John Martin and James Brown, two Louisville boys, arrived in town Monday evening on their bikes. They left Chicago Saturday morning, and are on their way to Chickamauga to visit soldier friends.

Thomas J. Keyer, of Memphis, Tenn., and Robert A. Keyer, of Natchez, Miss., are here visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keyer, West Chestnut street. Mr. Thomas J. Keyer will leave next week for a tour through Ireland, France and Germany.

Corporal Tom Mulverhill, who has been lying at his home, 1609 Magazine street, critically ill of a complication of diseases, is much improved, and will be able to report for duty in the course of a few days.

Phil Hutti, the Walnut-street grocer, is unaffected by the hot weather. He is always in a pleasant humor, the result of increased business. Phil is certainly coming to the front.

Mr. Louis Seeger, who has been spending a couple of weeks at West Baden Springs, has returned home, and the many friends of this popular gentleman will be pleased to learn that he is greatly improved in health.

Masters Harry and Wallace Durst, who have been attending Gethsemane College, spent the past week with their uncle, Mr. M. Lawler, Sr., St. Xavier street, and returned with their vacation with the Mississippi.

Mr. Frederick H. Struck, Lillian Austin Dowling, known and popular, were married Wednesday afternoon at Charles Borromeo church, P. Raffo officiating. After wedding dinner at the residence of the bride's parents, the happy couple left for an extended trip. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dowling. Mr. Struck is connected with the John C. Lewis Company.

Col. Richard Quinn, of Seventh and Oak, is the solid mau of Limerick. There are no public or charitable enterprises with which he is not connected. His photo will shortly appear in these columns.

Mr. Peter Walsh, who has been suffering from a cataract of the eye, which rendered him almost totally blind, underwent a third operation, and his friends will be gratified to learn that his physicians now predict his speedy recovery.

James J. Regan, Preston and Market streets, is celebrating the arrival of a patriotic Irish-American at his home last Sunday. It is a boy, and weighs twelve and one-half pounds. Mr. Regan will celebrate the event by a trip to New York City this week.

Mr. Mike Tynan, the efficient and accommodating Deputy Bailiff of the City Court, who has long been taking a prominent part in trades union and other society matters, is now quite actively interested in increasing the membership of his division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Frank Leverone, who is with the Louisville Legion at Camp Thomas, writes to his brother John that he is enjoying good health. He has been promoted to Corporal. Frank will prove a brave soldier, and his friends predict a bright military career if he is allowed to go to the front.

At the banquet of the alumni of St. Xavier's College two of the principal addresses were delivered by Messrs. John McDonough and John M. O'Neill. The former delivered the address of welcome, while the latter replied to the toast, "The Stars and Stripes," his remarks being received with unbounded enthusiasm.

Miss Annie Carr, proof reader on the Evening Post, and a writer of ability, left Thursday night for Cincinnati, whither she went to join the Kentucky Press Association on its jaunt through the Great Lakes. Miss Carr is one of the ablest young Irish-American women connected with the press of Kentucky. She is also making her mark as an amateur photographer.

One of the season's happiest weddings occurred last Wednesday evening at St. Patrick's Church, when Miss Mary E. Meehan and Edward Donohue were united in marriage by Very Rev. Mgr. Gambon. Miss Meehan is the daughter of Mr. Edward Meehan, of West Madison street, and the happy couple are popular and well known in West End society.

James M. Lynch, of Syracuse, N. Y., who has just been elected First Vice President of the International Typographical Union, has for years been a leading member in Ancient Order of Hibernian circles in New York State. Mr. Lynch made many friends in Louisville while attending the printers' international convention held here some time ago. We predict he will prove an able and conservative official.

There have been many changes in local newspaper circles of late, but the one which will be hailed with the greatest pleasure by the general public is the promotion of Messrs. John A. Baird and Edward Fitzpatrick, widely known as two of this city's ablest and most experienced writers, to the positions of assistant managing and city editor respectively on the Evening Times. That paper is to be congratulated upon its wise selection of heads for these two important departments.

Mr. William Mudd and Miss Nellie Hickey were united in marriage at St. Louis Bertrand Church at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, June 28. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father B. F. Logan. The church was crowded with the friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride wore a handsome gray traveling gown. The attendants were Messrs. John Hickey, a brother of the bride, and Mr. Joe Cregan, of Bardstown, a cousin of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony the newly married couple left for Mammoth Cave, where they will spend the remainder of the week. The groom is a popular clerk employed at J. W. Miller's grocery in South Louisville. The bride is the handsome and accomplished daughter of Mr. James Hickey. She is a sister of Mike Hickey, the proprietor of the Paradise saloon.

JOHN SWEENEY PASSES AWAY.

Death of One of the Oldest and Bravest Men in the Louisville Department—His Known.

Capt. John Sweeney, one of the oldest and bravest men in the Department of Louisville, has passed away. He died last Wednesday afternoon at his home, 1012 West Madison street, after a long illness, aged fifty-four years. For the past twenty-five years he had been connected with the fire department, being Captain of the No. 5 Hook and Ladder Company for many years, and was regarded by Chief Hughes as one of the most efficient officers in the service.

His funeral took place Friday morning from his late home on Sixth street, the services being held at the Dominican church. A large number of his former associates attended the obsequies and accompanied the remains to their last resting place in St. Louis cemetery.

Many beautiful floral designs were sent by sorrowing friends, and numerous were the expressions of sympathy. Capt. Sweeney is survived by a wife and three daughters.

A. O. H. NOTES.

Division No. 5 will entertain its friends at Lion Garden, August 22.

Mr. James Cooney, the "only" comedian, of No. 3, is popular with everybody.

Mr. Frank Cunningham, of No. 6, the great tragedian, is still a greater favorite with the gentler sex.

Brothers Collins, of No. 1, and Haley, of No. 3, have done good work on the Fourth of July Supply Committee.

Hon. J. Taylor, of No. 3, feels very much delighted with his Frankfort trip, but he does not like the way they served the soup—dishes too small.

Messrs. Lawler, Camfield and Hefernan have not let the grass grow under their feet in advertising the Fourth of July celebration at Phoenix Hill Park.

Tom Keenan is one of those members of whom much is not heard. He is, however, one of the most progressive men in the city, and no one does more to advance Irish interests.

Messrs. James Treston and Thomas D. Claire, of No. 5, are running neck and neck in backing their favorite young ladies for the prize which No. 5 is giving to the young lady cashing the greatest number of tickets for the picnic to be given at Lion Garden August 22. These boys are hustlers, and there is no doubt the division treasury will be much benefited by their hot but friendly rivalry.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Will Be Celebrated by the A. O. H. at Phoenix Hill—Hon. Matt O'Doherty Will Deliver the Address.

Naturally every one wishes to celebrate the Fourth of July. The great question is, How shall we celebrate it? One usually puts many questions to himself as to how and where he can get the most enjoyment for his money. The Hibernians have helped to solve that question for the Fourth of 1898. The Committee of Arrangements have left nothing undone to give those who join with them in their patriotic festivities a most pleasant time. In the first place, they have secured Phoenix Hill Park at no outlay of money, as it is really the only place which is easily accessible to the masses. The same time of day, while it has been the custom of providing safety against any inclemency of the weather.

As to the programme, we can say without fear of being criticised that no other amusement resort will put up a better entertainment than that which will take place at Phoenix Hill Park.

The Hibernians naturally feel proud of the very prominent part which the sons of Ireland have taken in making the history of this country from the time when Dongan called together the Legislature of New York to frame new laws for the colony, among which was one granting liberty of conscience to all its citizens, down to the present.

They love to congregate on Independence Day and recount the many noble and patriotic deeds of our race. This year they have made arrangements to have Hon. Matt O'Doherty make an address, and the public may rest assured that the effort of Mr. O'Doherty on this occasion will be up to the usual standard. Other speakers will make addresses on subjects relating to the day we celebrate.

After the speaking the Knights, although their ranks have been depleted by those who joined the army, will give an exhibition drill.

St. Patrick's Cadets will also give an exhibition drill, and we can assure all that it will be a sight worth seeing to watch these little fellows go through the various evolutions with the precision of trained soldiers.

Another feature of the entertainment will be dancing for the younger element, which will commence at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continue till the close. If there is a person on earth who can make you feel at home it is the man with Celtic blood in his veins. And we wish to assure the public that every Hibernian in the city of Louisville has constituted himself a committee of one to make it pleasant for those who join with us in celebrating that day, whose birth meant so much for liberty the wide world over.

The annual outing of St. Patrick's congregation will take place at Fern Grove on Monday, July 25.
